People of the Two Row April and Kelly: Cooks of the Covenant Chain

Emily Bishop

Editors' note: The Two Row Wampum Renewal Campaign is a statewide education and advocacy campaign inspired by this year's 400th anniversary of the first treaty between the Haudenosaunee and Europeans. The treaty outlines a mutual commitment to friendship, peace and living in parallel forever. A campaign focal point is a symbolic enactment of the treaty, with Native people and allies paddling side-by-side down the Hudson River.

April Tarbell and Kelly Edwards, two women from the Onondaga Nation, will be sharing their love (and well organized method) of cooking for several Two Row Campaign events. Kelly participated in the trial run for the symbolic enactment last summer, and April has cooked on a grand scale for a variety of gatherings, such as the Healing of the Waters in Minnesota. They both described the considerations of organizing to take care of large groups, especially when it involves sustaining paddlers.

Kelly and April are used to it, they say, "We both cook for our ceremonies. April goes on the road and cooks when our people take trips... we have to think of every little detail!" And there is a lot to think about when you anticipate cooking for 200 people for two weeks; but they are determined to provide nutritious and delicious meals every day. The menu includes venison and corn stew, a lot of hot scones, spaghetti, greens, and "American food" —like hot dogs and hamburgers. "We've added some vegetarian dishes, too!" they stated at an enactment meeting in February, "but we know our people have to get their meat!"

From the trial run, the group discovered a lot of things they didn't initially consider, such as the need for a significant supply of sunscreen and bug spray, clotheslines, and weather procedures. April and Kelly are part of the Ground Crew committee, which includes traveling ahead of the group to set up for meals and paddlers' campgrounds, along with clean up; they asserted, "we aren't going to be cleaning camper's dishes!" The enactment committee is trying to be as green as possible, with biodegradable soap, mess kits, and reusable water bottles on the gear list.

Kelly and April are aware they must expect the unexpected while traveling down the Hudson. Aside from self-care and food portions, they shared stories that are symbolic to the spirit of the Two Row. They recalled many people greeting them who had read about the trip in newspapers and who were kind enough to share their local knowledge of the areas. Kelly emphasizes the purpose of the trip from the Onondaga perspective, "We are always told that you don't turn people away. We aren't about that. And who knows, they might have something to offer too." ♻️

Chris Hedges: Save the Date, April 27

The Peace Council is thrilled to be hosting prolific journalist and activist Chris Hedges for a fundraising event on April 27. Hedges' talk will be the keynote of a regional anti-war convergence hosted by the Upstate Coalition to Ground the Drones, April 26-28. More details regarding time and location to come, but please save the date! Contact Ursula.

Resist the War Machine

Drones are the "cutting edge" of military technology, making it easier for the US government to fight and kill—in both declared and undeclared wars. The CIA and US military have killed countless civilians using drones, particularly in Pakistan and Yemen. Come out to ArtRage on March 6 at 6:30pm to meet others concerned about US wars of empire. Come share your ideas and hear about the various ways that SPC activists are organizing to RESIST THE WAR MACHINE! Don't just get mad, organize! The Anti-War movement needs you! Contact Ursula.

A Grand Launch for the Two Row

Over 500 people filled Syracuse Stage for the launch of the Two Row Wampum Renewal Campaign on February 11. The crowd responded enthusiastically to the presentation of 22 pairs of people working actively in our community in the spirit of the Two Row treaty: Haudenosaunee and non-Native partners, collaborating in peace and friendship while respecting their differences. A NYC kickoff event, with major support from SU, is set for March 12 with a presentation at SUNY New Paltz the following evening. We've received almost 100 applications for participation in our epic canoe journey down the Hudson this coming summer. We've got room for many more folks to participate in this historic effort, both in the water, on land and in many other ways. See www.honortheworow.org or contact Andy, tworow@peacecouncil.net or 701-1592.

End Corporate Rule

Have you signed the petition to amend the Constitution yet? Move to Amend (MTA) is a national grassroots movement to amend the Constitution to say that money is not equal to speech and that only "We the People," not corporations, have protected rights. In February, the "We the People" amendment was introduced in Congress. To learn more, visit www.movetoamend.org. Locally, MTA democracy activists are door knocking and petitioning in Syracuse and throughout Onondaga County to pass local resolutions in support of the Constitutional amendment. Please contact your City Councilors and County Legislators and let them know you support Move to Amend. MTA of CNY meets every 3rd Thursday at 7pm at the Center for Peace and Social Justice. Contact Michael, 663-5640.

JIM RICHARDSON

As a photographer for National Geographic Magazine and contributing editor of TRAVELER Magazine, Jim Richardson has stood on the tops of volcanic peaks and ventured below the surface of swamps and wetlands. When he is not circling the globe, you will probably find him in his gallery, Small World, on Main Street in Lindsborg, Kan., where he displays his stunning photographs that chronicle small town and rural Kansas life. Richardson has photographed more than 25 stories for National Geographic, including “Our Good Earth” and “The Death of Night.” ABC News Nightline produced a story about the long process of assembling National Geographic coverage by following Richardson in the field and at National Geographic Society headquarters in Washington, D.C. His audiovisual presentation, “Reflections from a Wide Spot in the Road,” has toured internationally. A 22-page story about his 30 years of photographing life in the north central Kansas town of Cuba, population 230, was published in National Geographic and featured twice by CBS News Sunday Morning, most recently in May 2004. His 1979 study of adolescence, “High School USA,” is now considered a photo essay classic and is used in college classrooms.

Syria: An alleged hacked British defense contractor email reveals a US/Qatar plan to deploy a chemical weapon false flag attack in Syria.<sup>1</sup> Israel conducted an air strike on Syria; the US reportedly approved and is poised to carry out similar strikes.<sup>2</sup> The US has given the rebels $50 million.<sup>3</sup> Four million Syrians are in need of humanitarian assistance.<sup>4</sup>

Ethiopia: In December, Ethiopian paramilitaries renewed attacks on communities in Ogden<sup>5</sup> in an ongoing campaign to clear the land for resource extraction. The Ethiopian government's army and paramilitaries have used rape, torture, and murder to drive communities into Internally Displaced Person camps where they are starved. There are currently 3.7 million people in need of assistance and over 1.5 million without food or water.<sup>6</sup> As many as 1 million Muslims peacefully protested on February 7 demanding freedom of religion and release of political prisoners; journalists attempting to cover the protests have been detained and protestors oppressed.<sup>7</sup> The UK has recently provided training and funding directly to the paramilitary forces<sup>8</sup>; the US provides up to $600 million yearly in aid to Ethiopia<sup>9</sup> which is diverted to the military and paramilitary.<sup>10</sup>

Somalia has been under a US funded occupation since the overthrow of the Islamic Courts Union in 2007. ## Work for Peace: Resist the Drones

Resisting Drones, Global Wars and Empire: April 26-28

Weaponized drones are more than just new weapons—they are changing the face of warfare and US empire-building. Because Hancock Air National Guard Base has become a hub of Reaper drone activity, the Upstate Coalition to Ground the Drones and End the Wars has organized a weekend of workshops and action to be held in Syracuse April 26-28.

As the host group, SPC has a lot to do—especially since we want to use this as an opportunity to educate and motivate our local community.

For details as they develop or to get involved, go to peacecouncil.net or upstatedroneaction.org or contact Carol.

Civil Resistance Continues at the Base

On February 13, protesters again blocked the gates at Hancock Air Base. Nine people were arrested. To learn about their (and others') court dates, contact Ed (315-478-4571, edkinane@verizon.net).

Anti-Drone Organizing Around Town

SPC's Ground the Drones End the Wars Committee has been pursuing the passage of an ordinance by the Syracuse Common Council prohibiting the use of surveillance drones. We'll especially need your support once the proposed ordinance goes into study session. We continue to distribute the excellent study Living Under Drones (Stanford and NYU Law Schools). To purchase a copy, contact Carol; to download the report, go to livingunderdrones.org.

Green Energy Roadmap

As a member of Alliance for a Green Economy (AGREE), the Peace Council is supporting efforts to convince the New York State legislature to fund an investigation into the question: Can New York get all of its energy from renewable sources? In February, AGREE made great progress in getting funding for the study included in the state budget. Assemblyman Kevin Cahill is sponsoring the appropriation in the Assembly, and 24 other assembly members signed in support. At press time, AGREE was working to score a matching appropriation in the Senate version of the budget. For more information or to get involved, contact Jessica.

No More Illegal Settlements

Protest Israel's plans to expand its illegal settlement of the West Bank in Occupied Palestine from 12:30-1:30 on March 23, corner of Erie Blvd. and East Genesee St. Bring a sign or use one of ours.

On March 30, we will commemorate Land Day, with a 7:00 pm film showing and talk at ArtRage Gallery (505 Hawley Ave, Syracuse). More details to come. Visit the Peace Council website for updates or contact Jessica.

Peace Isn't Just for the Birds!

Activist Appreciation: Marge Rusk

Marge Rusk has been sharing her time and talents at the Syracuse Peace Council as long as most of us can remember. For at least a few decades she's come into the office on a weekly basis to help out wherever she can, and she frequently helps with the PNL mailings as well.

Marge connected with SPC during the late 1950s through the annual Institute for International Relations. Since then, she's been part of our efforts to end the Viet Nam War, fight nuclear power, oppose US intervention in Latin America, the Middle East and elsewhere, and to support the rights of all people. She is also active with Syracuse United Neighbors.

Many people have passed through SPC while Marge remained a steady and consistent figure. A thoughtful story teller and avid bird watcher, Marge provides an important link to SPC's pre-digital age. Marge is in the office almost every Wednesday afternoon, sharing a meal with the staff, keeping the plants alive, making us laugh, and helping us all feel just a little more connected.

United as One

Four activists spoke to the Onondaga County Legislature on February 5 demanding independent oversight of the county jail, known as the Justice Center. We believe justice will be served only when needless deaths at the hands of correctional officers stop forever.

Speakers addressed the apparent pattern of correctional officer misconduct, stressing that current oversight structures are insufficient. United as One hopes to have a much stronger presence at the next County Legislature meeting on March 5 at 1 pm (401 Montgomery St., Rm 407). United as One will demand community participation in any new oversight mechanism and let the Legislature know that we'll be paying attention. The United as One coalition meets the second Thursday of each month. Contact Amelia for details or if you need a ride on March 5. ♻️
